BOILERMAKERS MAY OVERRULE STRIKE TONIGHT

Conservatives Say Action of Men in Walking Out and Subsequent Vote to Quit May Be Rescinded by Union

Should Radical Decision Be Upheld Many Will Refuse to Go Out; Local Men Talk Over Situation at Seattle

Interest in the Eastbay strike situation is centered on the action which may be taken this evening at the regular weekly meeting of Oakland Boilermakers' Union to relieve a condition that threatens to tip up the entire shipbuilding industry of the Eastbay district.

Leaders of the conservatives are emphasizing the importance of giving consideration to the probability that after April 1, when the Macy scale ceases to be operative, the employees will confront the necessity of dealing directly with employers. It is believed that the men will find it to their advantage to enter into this new situation with differences adjusted. The conservatives also point out that as long as the Macy board is in existence there can be no change in the wage scale set by the board. If the strike at this time will end nothing.

According to the conservatives in the union the men tonight are likely to rescind the strike vote of last Wednesday night whereby 2500 members of four of the boilermakers' helper crafts left their jobs in local shipyards the following morning and the strike vote of the union as a whole taken last Friday night may also be nullified.

CONSERVATIVES ARE GAINING STRENGTH, BELIEVE.

The conservative members are working to this end, it is stated, and the indications are said to favor their success. They state that admissions to their ranks have been numerous since the strike vote of last Friday was taken, and they are, therefore, looking forward with confidence to the outcome of the meeting this evening.

Whatever the result of the meeting, the conservatives will not go on strike under the vote taken last Friday. This was assured in a statement issued by F. H. McConnell, recording secretary of the union. In substance the McConnell pronouncement is that the several thousand conservative members of the organization will refuse to walk out at the dictation of officials, who recognize a strike vote unconstitutional and count it as being voted.

LOCAL MEN DISCUSS THINGS AT SEATTLE.

J. H. Powers, former president of the local Boilermakers' union, and secretary of the Pacific Coast District Council of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders, is in Seattle, where yesterday he was joined by Jack Williams, nominal president of the proposed Alameda County Metal Trades Council. Last night Powers and Williams appeared before the Seattle Metal Trades council, according to descriptions from the San Francisco Daily Journal, and the last mentioned urged that delegates be sent to the San Francisco bay area to proselytize in favor of a general strike. The rank and file of the about-the-bay workers, according to Williams and as recorded in the despatch, would immediately strike but for "deceit" that is being practiced on them by union leaders.

Powers, by virtue of his office as secretary, will cancel the strike vote of the eleven boilermaking unions with the exception of the Pacific Coast District Council. This move will be made in Portland February 17. Radical members of the local and outside unions affiliated with the council assert that a strike vote will be ordered at that time.

TWO-THIRDS RULE NOT TO HALT STRIKE.

They state the strike will be organized despite the fact that in the instance of the Oakland and other unions the ballot failed the two-thirds majority necessary to make it binding. This is the ballot which the conservatives say they will not recognize as valid and as compelling them to obey a strike mandate should such be issued.

Work is progressing in Eastbay shipyards today under the same handicap which has prevailed since the four helper crafts of the boilermakers struck. Thus far in the announced purpose of the shipyard managers to keep the plants operating as long as possible, but they state the time will be short unless the strikers return to work. The jobs are waiting for the men when they return, they state.

ORGANIZATION OF NEW BOARD IS DISCUSSED.

Organization of a wage adjustment board will be composed of representatives of the shipyard owners and workers of the Pacific coast, as announced yesterday by Dr. L. C. Marshall, assistant to the director of the industrial relations division of the war labor board, has been tentatively discussed by the parties interested and Dr. Marshall. In fact further discussions are now being held by a representative of the shipbuilders and Marshall en route to Los Angeles, where the latter was called last night to take up the proposed new plan.

Dr. Marshall states that this organization will, in effect, so far as private shipyard activities go, take the place of the Macy board after April 1. It is expected, however, according to Dr. Marshall, that the Macy board will continue to exercise its supervision over wage and

DR. JOHN GRANT LYMAN, world-famous swindler, who once again faces penitentiary punishment.

Liberty Bond Fraud Charged on Heels Of His Release

Dr. John Grant Lyman, international swindler, the chase for whom started in Oakland, where he escaped from a local hospital, led to London and back again, once more faces prison. Released from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., in July, he has been convicted of Liberty bond thefts in Baltimore, the police there holding that he started frenzied finance operations almost the moment he was freed from custody.

GO TO WORK, DECISION OF LABOR DELEGATE.

The entire delegation, it is understood, will recommend that every man return to work. All reported that the copper industry was in such condition that the cut in wages of $1 a day in the Butte district was something that could not be avoided.

A. F. OF L. MEMBERS ENDORSE MINE STRIKE.

Although no union in Butte affiliated with the American A. F. of L. voted to strike, several have endorsed the strike of the miners and in some instances have quit their work, explaining, however, that they are not on strike. The trades and labor assembly of Butte comprising organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, voted last night to endorse the miners' strike.

MELENA, Mont., Feb. 12.—Further preaching of anarchist doctrines by aliens in Butte will result in steps to deport them as undesirable, it was said here today by Chas. K. Andrews, inspector in charge of the United States Immigration office. This was corroborated by United States District Attorney E. K. Day. Federal authorities have been studying the Butte industrial situation for some time.

MORE RLLDS TO BE DEPORTED FROM SEATTLE.

SEATTLE, Feb. 12.—More alien labor agitators, I. W. W. members and persons alleged to be Bolsheviks within the near future, will be deported from Seattle in habeas corpus proceedings, he said, and other cases have been decided. Between ten and fifteen at least he said would be deported soon.

Thirty thousand shipyard workers are still on strike in spite of the efforts of the city's organized labor to bring about a settlement of the shipyard differences by the calling of a general strike. He reached the east.

$3,000,000 OBTAINED IN SWINDLE, REPORT.

His trial, the result of which was that he was said to have operated under various names, was opened yesterday at a meeting of the Master Tailors' Association this afternoon. The men went back to their shops Tuesday noon but were told that no work had been laid out for them.

MEETING TO ACT ON MEN'S REINSTATEMENT.

The general strike committee of a dozen of local unions will hold a special meeting in the Labor Temple Sunday. The meeting is called to deal with the cases of the few union men who were not reinstated in their jobs when the strike was called off.

Seattle's waterfront is being run on the open shop plan in certain sections, according to labor men. The employers are said to be taking the stand that they are not compelled to recognize their contract as it has already been broken by the workers.

Hurried preparation for a political verdict on the issues raised by the general strike were today under way here by the forces antagonistic through the industrial clash now at an end.

The election of three councilmen takes place next Tuesday—just a week after the strike was officially called off. With labor today endorsing candidates on issues raised by the strike and the incumbents seeking re-election on support of the city administration's action to break it, the outcome was looked to as a definite, convincing expression of sentiment.

ISSUE REGARDED AS TEST OF STRENGTH.

Twenty-four hours after the termination, few physical evidences remained of the strike. But its conclusion, instead of allaying the general ferment in Seattle, seems to have increased it. For that reason, although otherwise insignificant, the election was declared by some to be one of the important political signs posts in the country at this time.

Butte Labor Delegation Urges Men to Go Back to Work on Account of General Condition of the Copper Industry

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 12.—Picket activity on the part of striking members of the Butte Metal Miners' Union (Independent) and the Metal Mine Workers' Industrial Union, No. 500, A. F. of L., was suspended yesterday here as a protest against the recent reduction in wages of $1 a day, was resumed this morning after a day of inactivity yesterday. Several organized bodies of pickets attempted to reach the mines, but were dispersed by the police.

In two instances soldiers were called to assist in dispersing the pickets who gathered in crowds larger than permitted by the miners. No violence was reported. Three arrests were made. Those arrested were foreigners who were charged with obstructing and interfering with men going to their work. But few men were reported to have gone to work.

Delegates representing the various crafts connected with the copper mining industry in Butte at the recent conference in Washington have unanimously recommended the every man go back to work according to George T. Tuck, one of the delegates. George J. Mahoney, another delegate who represented the boilermakers at the conference, reported informally to his organization late last night, with the result that the previous action of the boilermakers endorsed the strike of the miners, endorsing the strike of the miners unanimously to remain at work. But few men were reported to have gone to work.

DELEGATES TO THE CONFERENCE.

AMERONGEN, Holland, Feb. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—There have been various indications during the last week that Count Hohenloher, the former German emperor, is maintaining communication with his former supporters.

Count Hohenloher, who is the secretary of the delegation to the Hague, Koester and Schlebach, visited the castle at Amerongen and stayed over night, having a long conference with Count Hohenloher and Hans von Gontard, the sole remaining high functionary of the old imperial court who remains faithful to the former emperor. Last night Baroness von Rosen, the English wife of the German minister to Holland, arrived and was still at the castle.

The object of these meetings cannot be ascertained as everything is kept secret under the influence of Herr von Gontard, who declines to permit any of his powers to be taken from his hands. With him is a minor functionary of the former German court, Councillor Knauff. Herr von Gontard is the only member of Count Hohenloher's suite to lodge at the castle.

General von Esdorff and Dr. Forster, who is in attendance on the former emperor, have rented a house outside.

Further departures of the former emperor's domestics occurred during the last week, some of them, however, being replaced by new arrivals from Berlin. The German government has given notice to all state servants in attendance on the former emperor and his wife that they must place themselves at the disposal of the government by April first or forfeit all claims for pensions. Countess Keller still remains with the former emperor.

It became known here early this morning that three delegates from the San Francisco delegation had appeared here for San Francisco to appear before the "rank and file" of the unions affiliated with the Iron Trades Council of San Francisco. It was said the purpose of the delegates will be to urge the unions of San Francisco to join the Seattle metal workers in a strike to obtain the original demands made to the Macy board by coast shipworkers.

JUGO-SLAVS ASK WILSON TO MEDIATE

DEATH ROLL IN FRANCE GREATLY EXCEEDS BIRTHS

PARIS, Feb. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—France's civilian population in four years has decreased by considerably over three-quarters of a million, without including the deaths in occupied northern France, nor losses due directly to the war.

Official statistics show that in 1913 the births outnumbered the deaths by 17,000. But this slight excess disappeared in the following year, since which time the deaths have outnumbered the births—in 1914 by more than 50,000, in 1915, 1916, and 1917, by nearly 300,000 in each year. The total excess of deaths over births for these four years is given as $83,150.

Births, which numbered approximately 600,000 in 1913, dropped to 315,000 in 1916 and 343,000 in 1917, while the deaths increased, but not in comparable proportions; so that the total decrease in population was due to the great diminution in birth and not to any great increase in deaths. The statistics cover forty-seven departments, including eleven invaded departments and not including 1,400,000 killed in the war.

President Wilson expressed to Premier Orlando the opinion that an agreement might be reached giving the Jugo-Slavs the eastern part of the peninsula of Istria, Dalmatia, and by making Fiume a free city. Premier Orlando answered that Italy could not possibly renounce its claims to Fiume without the risk of very grave trouble.

FAVORS ARBITRATION.

President Wilson, not wishing the peace conference to be confronted with the necessity of making a decision that might deeply wound either side, suggested that the Italians and the Jugo-Slavs discuss their differences and if they could not agree, that they should submit the disputed points to arbitration.

Premier Orlando answered that he thought arbitration was the proper thing before the war, but after long conflict that had ended with the defeat of the enemy and the occupation of the territories claimed. He added that he would consider the suggestion and discuss it with his colleagues on the Italian delegation.

No decision is expected from the Italians until after President Wilson returns to America as Premier Orlando, Baron Salandra and Signor Barzillai are leaving for Italy Thursday to attend the reopening of parliament.

NEW QUESTION ARISES.

Meanwhile, another Italian territorial question has arisen. Italy, at the suggestion of England, and in accord with France, has decided to occupy the military zone of Adalia and Konjic in the Vilayet of Konjic in Asia Minor, on condition that the islands of Dodecanese (Sporades) be transferred to Greece, excepting, perhaps, Samothraki, the smallest of the group, which Italy may keep as a naval station.

Two Italian divisions have been ordered to Rhodes to join another division already there, and the whole force will march to Adalia as soon as the formalities with Great Britain are completed.

Italian troops are to occupy Baku and Batum, on the Black sea also.

Italy will ask for a concession of the mines of Haracieum, the largest in the Near East, located in the Vilayet of Costamuni on the Black sea, which are now exploited by French, Russian and German companies.

The occupation of these points was suggested in order that Italy should be interested in a mandate in Asia Minor.

PITHIANS TO PLAY WHIST.

A whist party will be given tonight in Pithian Castle, Twelfth and Alice streets. Play will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

HOTEL OAKLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—Announcement was made here today that D. M. Lunnard and associates, now controlling six hotels in California, including the Fairmont and Palace of this city, had completed the purchase of the Potter Hotel of San Barbara.

Milo M. Potter, former owner, will return to private life, it was announced. Lunnard is given the controlling interest by the deal.

The same management is also planning the construction of a $5,000,000 hotel to be built in Los Angeles.

SUSPECT IN PLOT TO KILL WILSON HELD

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 12.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The American Red Cross mission which is making a survey of conditions in the Balkan states with view to aiding the refugees who were driven out by Bulgarian occupation experienced a tempestuous voyage from Piraeus, the port of Athens, to Saloniciki, and finally found refuge in this mountain-sheltered harbor in the upper reaches of the Aegean sea.

The old coastwise Greek steamer, Peloponnesus, on which they were traveling, encountered a gale in which the vessel labored so severely that it was feared at one time she would never reach port. Having stopped at the port of Volo, 200 Greek refugees were put on board the steamer despite the protest of the captain. Throughout the voyage from Volo to Saloniciki the weather was cold and rainy and a northeast wind lashed the sea into waves that tossed the old steamer about like a cork and made her groan from stem to stern.

He was charged with an alleged conspiracy against the life of President Wilson, say local government agents, and is held on $10,000 bond.

The trial of the plot against President Wilson was to have been carried out "as soon as possible after the return of the peace delegation from France," according to a federal warrant issued by District Attorney F. D. Robertson, the contents of which is known today.

The trial of the plot against President Wilson was to have been carried out "as soon as possible after the return of the peace delegation from France," according to a federal warrant issued by District Attorney F. D. Robertson, the contents of which is known today.

Pierre will be tried in Kansas City, Kan.

The alleged plot also included the names of William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, according to the secret service men. R. Bobba, a Chicago I. W. W. leader, is under arrest by federal officers in Cleveland, Ohio.

He was charged with an alleged conspiracy against the life of President Wilson, say local government agents, and is held on $10,000 bond.

Chicago apparently was the place where the plans were made, federal officers here said.

Pierce-Arrow

The first experimental Pierce-Arrow Motor Truck was sent out for road tests in the spring of 1906. Four years of constant test and experiment convinced the Pierce-Arrow engineers that chain drive was unsuitable and inefficient for motor trucks. None of these experimental models, therefore, was ever offered for sale.

How Colds Are Contracted.

Colds are due to bacterial germs that are usually present in the air passages of the throat and nose of healthy persons. Under ordinary conditions they do no harm but when you get chilled, very tired or eat too much so as to weaken your resistance they are quick to take advantage of it and almost before you know it you have a cold. Get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and take it according to the plain printed directions and you will soon be rid of it, but when you neglect it look out. Some of the most serious diseases result from neglected colds. For sale by Osgood Bros. Drug Co.—Advertisement.

ROMANCE IS SOON ENDED FOR GIRL, 13

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—In the story books, when the gallant cavalier rescues the unhappy young maiden they live happily forever after.

But in real life of modern days it's different.

Thirteen-year-old Margaret Morris, daughter of Mrs. Mary Morris, 189 Post street, found that out today. So did Vivian E. Whittier, 28, of $24 Edy street.

Whittier is the girl's husband, according to the records. But, gallant cavalier though the girl may have thought him, his gallantry does not carry him to the point of braving the wrath of the girl's mother and rescuing his wife.

The girl's mother is keeping her and has just sued for the annulment of her daughter's marriage to Whittier.

According to the statements made by the father of the girl, Margaret represented herself to Whittier as untreated.

She said Mrs. Morris was not her mother. A Spanish romance which she had read, led her to assume the name of Violet Don Miguel, born in Madrid, Spain. She saw Whittier in Jefferson Square and won his attentions by writing romantic notes to him.

She wanted a young man who was willing to rescue her and did so when she returned to her native city. The spark of romance she had struck fired Whittier. He decided he could fit the bill and proceeded to show that he could.

Last Wednesday the wedding was performed by Judge John J. Van Nostrand. To obtain the license Margaret had dressed herself so as to look the 19 years she claimed for herself. When she returned to her native city she took up with a gallant young man.

She detained her daughter and took steps that has resulted in the suit. Whittier says that the girl told him she was 19 years old.

S. F. TO IMPROVE PORT FACILITIES

Preliminary investigation by the State Board of Harbor Commissioners has been followed by the launching of a program for modernizing the cargo handling equipment at the port of San Francisco. These plans were held up by the exigencies of war, but with the beginning of the armistice and the resumption of shipping open with unrestricted navigation, the board is prepared to at once install modern freight handling equipment.

Commissioner Miles Standish is in charge of the program. It includes the providing of motor-truck and electric cargo-stacking machines for the movement of freight from shipside to docks and to bulkhead warehouses adjacent to piers.

Each pier will be appropriately equipped to handle the character of material landed.

Immediate installation of locomotive cranes movable from pier to pier as required is being considered.

The subjects to be covered in the course are: "The Production, Preparation and Conservation of Food," "Choice Foods for the Family," "Cooking," "Selecting and Care of Household Equipment," "Family Budget-making," "House Sanitation." The class is to begin Monday, February 17. Miss Mills' telephone is Berkeley 4974.

"Rough-House" Ends With Police Victory

Holiday, mixing up with the law came to grief, according to the recital of circumstances surrounding the appearance of Gabriel and Michael Murray brothers in the police court tomorrow with bandaged heads and a general air of disarray, the direct result of contact with Policeman J. P. Feeley.

The two youths, according to the police, started a "rough house" last night at a movie theater at 14th and Claremont Avenue. The Murray boys well knew the police out, when Feeley along. When the wagon load of policemen surnamed from the Northern station by a riot call, arrived, Feeley was standing victorious over the re-embattled and battered forms of the brothers. They were booked on charges of disturbing the peace and using improper language.

Pulls Victim from Under Auto; Flees

Search was started by the police today for the autoist who ran down and injured C. F. Cook, 4008 Grove street, at Fourteenth and Washington streets last evening, driving away after he had alighted, pulled the injured man from under his machine to the curb, and left him for the emergency hospital.

Cook was found to be suffering from numerous abrasions and cuts. He gave a description of the owner of the machine that ran him down, and said that he was roughly handled by the man who pulled him from under it.

Huns Sink U-Boat With Own Shell Oakland Lad Tells of Risky Sub Work

Narrowly escaping destruction when a torpedo fired by a German submarine missed its mark and accidentally sent an enemy U-boat to the bottom, and often made the target for shells from surface vessels, the United States submarine L-2, which was in the overseas service, returned safely recently to home waters, and A. S. Bilger, son of the late Captain Frank Bilger, who was killed in the war, is at the home of his parents a 407 Vernon street. Bilger returned in the best of health and uninjured.

The young man, who is 22 years old, enlisted in June, 1917, and was in the service for fifteen months. He crossed the Atlantic on the submarine tender Bushnell, and was a radio operator and listener of the submarine L-2 for seven months. This morning he is 22 feet long and 22 feet in width, was on the lookout for German U-boats along the English, Irish and French coasts. The L-2 had a complement of twenty-seven men and three officers.

HUNS DESTROY OWN BOAT.

Bilger says that practically all of the enemy submarines the L-2 encountered ran away rather than risk battle, but on one occasion he says that the periscope of the submarine L-2 sighted and that the craft quickly came up like a cork, often pitching at an angle of 70 degrees. Such a vessel is about 70 feet long and 22 feet in width, was on the lookout for German U-boats along the English, Irish and French coasts.

The L-2 had a complement of twenty-seven men and three officers.

Alleged Overcoat Thief Is Captured

Suspected by the police of being the overcoat thief, John Quinn was arrested last night by Patrolman Summers and charged with the theft of an overcoat belonging to A. W. Finley, 704 Brush street. Finley was playing billiards at 1109 Broadway. When he finished the game his overcoat was gone. He notified the police officer, who found the coat in a pawnshop in the close-by. Quinn was arrested in the pawnshop, where he had returned after disposing of the coat.

Great Garage to Be Built at Presidio

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—A million-dollar garage to be used for the repair of army automobiles is to be erected in the Presidio. This became known today when Lieutenant Colonel E. L. Aydelot of the quartermaster's construction division left here today for Washington. He will present detailed plans of the plans for the building to the War Department. The building is to be erected in the north cantonment.

Solons to Act on Federal Policies

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12.—When the California legislature reconvenes, February 24, after the constitutional recess, it will face a number of resolutions which would place it on record as favoring or disapproving various phases of national policy.

Resolutions calling upon congress to establish a uniform system of inheritance taxation throughout the country with provision for dividing the receipts between the states and the federal government are awaiting action in both houses, having been introduced by Senator Gates and Assemblyman Brooks. Legislators seemed agreed during the first part of the session that the "high cost of living" in California might prevent wealthy persons from settling in this state. Governor Stephens called attention to the matter in his biennial message.

Other resolutions seek aid for California producers who greatly increased their outputs because of war time appeals and who are said to be without market outlets. Senator Ridenour has introduced a resolution prohibiting the importation of Manchurian and Japanese beans, and Senator Inman's

EVERYONE TO OWN A HOME, IS U.S. PLAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Senator Scott introduced a bill providing for study and a report to Congress on a plan to enable every American worker to own his home.

The home owners' bill creates a commission of six which is directed to:

1 Existing methods in the United States of financing the building and buying of homes for persons of modest means.

2 The effect of these methods of stimulating or retarding investment of capital in homes and in controlling the quality, location and cost of them.

3 Methods followed in other countries.

The commission's report to Congress is to be made by January 1, 1920, and is to contain recommendations for improvements in present American methods.

Kennon's idea is that the government should extend aid to workers to the extent of financing them in much the same way as aid is now given farmers under the farm loan act.

NATIONAL FORESTS

Afford Recreation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—If admission to the national forests were charged at the prevailing cheap movie rate, 10 cents an hour, the government would have cleaned up $7,500,000 last year.

More than 2,000,000 persons spent an average of twenty-five hours each in the national forests, camping, hunting, fishing, exploring and enjoying the scenery.

But the American people got all this for nothing.

plan for settling returning soldiers on reclaimed land.

A resolution offered by Assemblyman M. B. Browne, urging the government to retain control of the railroads, awaits action. Another by Assemblyman Carter would ask the federal government to prohibit the exportation of petroleum as a conservation measure. Assemblyman McKeen has a resolution asking to call a congressional session to extend the soldiers and sailors insurance plan to include a United States government system of life fire and general insurance.

Senator Luman proposed to put the legislature on record in favor of universal military training.

Assemblyman Brooks offered a resolution urging development of the United States merchant marine until it shall be the largest in the world.

An appeal to pure living is more in the place, conformance is embodied in a resolution offered by Senator Nealon.

Senators Slater and Evans introduced a resolution which would demand a more strict examination of national banks.

Assemblyman Pohly offered a resolution, asking that the migratory bird treaty be so modified that ducks killed by California farmers on rice fields may be sold.

Several important resolutions touching upon national policy already have been approved by the legislature this session. Among these are ratification of the national prohibition amendment; protest against the award of contracts for American ships to foreign countries; appeal for the purchase of Lower California, the Colorado river as an all-American waterway endorsement for the McKeen bill providing for retirement on annuities of federal employees over 55 years of age; protest against cancellation of war loans to the Argentine government.

Senator Lums' resolution petitioning the president to appoint immediately the commission provided for in the Newlands river regulation amendment has been approved by the senate and awaits action in the assembly.

Letters Tell of Naon's Successor

Letters received here from Buenos Aires by former residents of that city tell of the appointment of Tomas de Breton, one of the most prominent men of Argentina, to represent that republic at Washington. The appointment constitutes him the successor of Romulo S. Naon, famed diplomat of the South American republic.

Le Breton is a man of means, the son of French parents, but born in the Argentine. He has been for some terms a member of congress. He is a fluent user of English.

Ambassador Naon, whom Le Breton will succeed, was Argentina's first ambassador to the United States.

Curtains, Collars & Cutlets CHEER-UP COLUMN

By Elsie Robinson

Despite the supposed "hard boiled" view of life Police Judge George Samuels is supposed to have gained after many years on the police bench, he's still a good-hearted, after all—but he sometimes camouflages this fact.

Charles Pieron, a sailor just back from a year's service in France, came before him for speeding. It seems the boy was here on furlough—glad to get back—and when he got into his dad's auto he "stepped on her tail a bit."

"Oh, furlough, how?" rasped the judge. "Think you can go around speeding—endangering lives? A few days in jail—say six days after your furlough expires—I guess that would teach you a lesson! Look—you have two gold chevrons on your sleeve! A year in the service, used to discipline, and then east obey the law! Well, I don't know whether twelve days or fifteen days."

"Oh—well—you're in the service, and I guess you'll be same on ship. Don't drive any more—and report back on time."

The boy hurried away, fearing lest the judge change his mind.

Samuels turned to the clerk, a twinkle in his eye. "A fine-looking boy, wasn't he? They make men of them in the service. But I had to scare him a bit—that's business. I hated to do it, though; couldn't look at him while I roared him he looked so timid and manly.

It's true, but be careful, though; hereafter nothing like a good reining-in can make a real man do better, after all."

And he then gave all the vars and habitual drunks thirty days apiece.

"For them—not roasting, but the cooler, is the thing," the judge explained.

HERE'S ONE MAN WHO WANTS NO MORE PAY

Captain of Detectives James Drew has no extra salary for being a captain—he's drawing his old inspector's pay—and what's more, he's glad to—

All of which is a matter of civil service rank.

When named acting captain, Drew betook himself to the pay window on pay day, and was amazed to find that there was no captain's salary on his pay check. He sought City Auditor Fred Le Ballister and complained mightily and profanely.

"Do you like your job?" asked Le Ballister.

"Sure!" said the captain.

"Well—you are a substitute as a captain," said Le Ballister. "Under the charter if you take the pay that goes with that job you lose your inspector's civil service standing—then when the regular captain appears you are out of a job altogether. That's why I pruned your claim to save your job for you. I figured you didn't know about the law in the matter."

"Fred—I'm perfectly happy with my wages!" proclaimed the captain. He fared forth happily and spent them for shoes, groceries, rent and a bottle of milk in token thereof. He doesn't good evening, Sister. Never feel like Georgette crepe? You know—kinda light and foolish and not to be hindered in the joy of living by serious considerations. I have. Every time I was suspended from school I was a kid, which was a pity, as all the school board and some in the front rows to assist sentence and dispense of the remains, and mother sat there with her all hope is lost look, and my future hung in the balance trembling badly, why, just about then I'd get that Georgette crepe feeling. The worst has arroo—what next—it's pigeon! That feeling wasn't a popular one then. I'm not quite sure that it has ever been encouraged by the pillars of society. But why this pillar idea, anyway, when if you stay nothing but ordinary kindling wood you can dance on the waters that travel about the world, you can whirl in the winds that sweep the big earth sweet, you can back in a thousand kinds of sunshine and warm folks' souls? That mustodon has you skinned a hundred ways for dignity, sister, and look what happened to him when things got a move on.

What does a place in society matter? Tomorrow there won't be any society. What does your own personal dignity matter? The mustodon has you skinned a hundred ways for dignity, sister, and look what happened to him when things got a move on.

Get that Georgette crepe-kindling wood feeling. See how unimportant you are in the big scheme of things—and be darned glad of it. Look what happens to important people like Bill Hollerzollin! Cut loose from the pillar plan and get out into the wind and the sun and the big waters of life. Twiddle your fingers at trouble. Cover your heart and worry about that debt.

For some unaccountable reason the world brought me flush to my cheek, a shock which Dicky commented mischievously a few minutes later upon pretense of helping me lay the emblazoned bunch cloth upon the gate-legged table before the fire.

"If old Savarin's compliments are going to make you blush like that I'll have to look out for him," he whispered.

I shook my head reprovingly. "Don't be nonsensical, Dicky," I said, but secretly I was glad that he had learned to jest about the ordinary polite compliments which men pay women, but which Dicky had always before resented when they were addressed to me.

By the time Katie was ready to bring in our luncheon Mr. Savarin had recovered sufficiently to go to the room and

Adele Garrison's New REVELATIONS OF A WIFE Lucrezia Bori on BEAUTY

As the taxi rolled into the driveway I hurried to the door to greet Roben Savarin, the famous artist whom Dicky was bringing to our home for his first visit "back to the world" after 15 years of exile in the Catskill mountains.

I uttered a little cry as I saw him leaning on Dicky's arm and his face was gaudy in its whiteness.

He appeared to have great difficulty in breathing. Dicky was supporting him almost as if he were a helpless child.

Summoning Katie I sent her to the medicine chest for brandy and aromatic spirits of ammonia, and by the time Dicky had guided our visitor's faltering steps to the door which I had open I was ready to minister to him.

"Let him rest here," I said, indicating a couch on which I had quickly arranged the pillows, "and give him this," holding over the dose of aromatic spirits of ammonia. I smiled at the thought he was trying to gasp a recognition and an apology to me.

"You shall tell me all about it later on," I assured him. "Don't try to talk just now."

He obediently took the dose Dicky handed him, and leaning back against the pillows closed his eyes. Dicky and I sat down quietly in chairs close to the couch and watched him closely. It was but a moment or two before a faint color came back to his cheeks and he opened his eyes and smiled apologetically at me.

"HE HAS SEEN—"

"I am so ashamed to have come to your door in this fashion, Mrs. Graham," he said, "but I have had a shock. Tell her, Mr. Graham, please. He closed his eyes again.

Dicky looked distinctly nonplussed. I saw that he did not relish telling me with my reflections of the afternoon fresh upon me I leaped to a conclusion.

"He has seen Mrs. Alis," I exclaimed, and with a shudder betrayed my own terror of the woman, for Mr. Savarin started up from the couch quickly in spite of our protests.

"Oh, this is too bad," he exclaimed. "I had forgotten that Mrs. Graham had reason to be terrified at the mention of that woman."

"You mistake my feeling, Mr. Savarin," I said calmly, for I saw that the man before me must be shielded from emotion as much as possible. The balance of that delicate artist brain was too recently restored to risk subjecting it to any strain. "I am not terrified in the least; in fact, I am quite curious to know where you saw her."

"She is the most most-of-fact person possible, and you're repelled by her adulating flattery from Dickey's eyes. He hesitated perceptibly in answering me, however, and I realized that he also was worried over the reappearance of that stormy petrel, Mrs. Alis, on our horizon."

A REAL TRIBUTE.

"Looking out of a car window after we had alighted at Marvin," he said at last. I caught my breath. Had she followed Dicky and Mr. Savarin to Marvin in an effort to trace me, or was her presence on the train purely accidental? I knew better than to ask the question, however. Instead I divested my voice of every trace of interest.

"To be sure they made excellent pillars of society—the regular stationary kind with noses growing all down one side. But the world grew tired of them—tired of people talking about themselves and their troubles and their place in society so everlasting seriously. And now that that same world is up against the hardest general upsetting it has ever known just that pillar attitude has no takers whatever."

What does a place in society matter? Tomorrow there won't be any society. What does your own personal dignity matter? The mustodon has you skinned a hundred ways for dignity, sister, and look what happened to him when things got a move on.

Get that Georgette crepe-kindling wood feeling. See how unimportant you are in the big scheme of things—and be darned glad of it. Look what happens to important people like Bill Hollerzollin!

I had been most anxious that Mr. Savarin's first meal be a favorable one. And I was amply rewarded for any trouble I might have taken when our guest at the close of his luncheon said earnestly:

"Mrs. Graham, you make me feel as if I really had come back into the world again."

Winfred Black FOLKS AND THINGS

She's a stenographer, and she's a good stenographer—so sometimes she's quick-witted, good-humored, indiscreet, intelligent, but she never keeps a position longer than two or three months at a time.

"I lose all interest in my work," she says. "I love books and pictures, music, and I hate drudgery. I can't stay in one place long; the inner unrest drives me on. What shall I do? I am the support of my mother and my conscience says keep on with the drudgery, but my soul cries out for wider scope. What shall I do?"

Do my dear child? What is there for you to do but keep on working? What other excuse is there for the food you eat and the roof that shelters you?

How many persons do you think are in the world who work because they want to, or because they enjoy the work they find to do? Not one in ten thousand, and you're just one of the ones.

YOU ARE RICH.

So you love music, pictures, books, Hurrah for you! You ought to be thankful for all these tastes, and you should say a little prayer of gratitude every time you think of them. They are worth everything in the world to you.

You're rich, dear child, richer far than the old fellow who buys you to write his letter for him, and who is bored to death at the very thought of a decent book, and who can't stay awake when he hears good music to save his life.

Every taste of that sort is capital to you, so much in the bank of human enjoyment.

Give up your honest, regular work to go mooning around looking for "higher things"? What nonsense, what utter nonsense!

What higher thing is there in life than just the thing you are doing—taking good care of your mother?

What is the difference between you right now and the dreamer who sits all day in his armchair to be an "artist," and dreaming of great deeds nobly done? Just this: You are earning your right to live and the dreamer is dreaming away all that makes life worth living at all.

And don't make yourself a martyr. You aren't a martyr at all. You're a very lucky girl. You can earn your living, take care of the mother who bore you, and have lots of time left to think about books and music and pictures. And, whisper! There's nothing particularly high about an idea just because it's behind the covers of a book or on the canvas behind a frame. It's the idea that counts—the idea and the way it's carried out.

Stories! Why, you're living a story every day, and it's your business to see that it is a good story with a good ending.

And whisper! Where did you get that notion that it is "foolish" to paint pictures, "fine" to write books, and "grand" to make music, but impossible to make eighteen dollars a week taking dictation and writing on a typewriter?

Apples and Rice.

6 red-cheeked apples
1 cupful of boiled rice
1 cupful of sugar
Wash the apples and cut a slice off the top. Remove the center, forming a cup, using a sharp teaspoon. Cook gently in a syrup of two cupfuls of water and 1 cupful of sugar until tender. Shape the center carefully and fill the part at about the middle of your scallop.

In brushing your hair the most thorough results may be obtained by parting it in sections or strands, and carefully brushing each section or strand from scalp to ends. At least once each week you should expose your loosened hair to the air and the sun's rays.

Potato Dressing.

2 cupfuls of mashed potatoes
2 cupfuls of butter substitute
3 tablespoonsful of vinegar
3 tablespoonsful of horseradish
1 cupful of Worcester sauce
1/2 cupful of mustard

1/2 cupful of sugar

Melt the butter, add to hot, mashed potatoes and other ingredients, mixing thoroughly with a mayonnaise mixer.

To remove the dust of his journey. And when he joined us at the table he did full justice to Katie's delicious creamed chicken served in a chafing dish, her French fried potatoes, lettuce hearts and strawberries, the first which Dicky had seen in the market.

I had been most anxious that Mr. Savarin's first meal be a favorable one. And I was amply rewarded for any trouble I might have taken when our guest at the close of his luncheon said earnestly:

WHEN WORKERS STRIKE.

Very often, if indeed not in the majority of cases, when in accordance with the ascertained judgment of its members, a labor union or group of unions strike for better wages, or working conditions, or as a protest against worse conditions, they have the support of public opinion. Popular sentiment in case of a strike under such circumstances, while it may disapprove of certain methods, is usually with the wage-earner. And some of the most disagreeable features of strikes are accepted philosophically on the assumption, correct or not, that they are necessary evils of a just protest of organized workers. This aid of the public thought has won many victories for labor unions. With its help union labor has triumphed over arbitrary, unyielding employers, even over military police.

But without the support of public opinion no strike has ever won any benefits worth the recording. And it has been demonstrated time and again that the public will not approve, not even remain neutral, in case of a strike for the sheer purpose of striking. There must be other motives, something that appeals to the human sense of justice and to human reason.

Consequently the sympathetic strike in Seattle, by which 70,000 workers were called from their places of employment for the alleged purpose of aiding the cause of 25,000 striking shipyard workers, failed. It has been abandoned and the workers are back at their jobs. But the strike was not called off without heavy penalty. Labor lost heavily, the community lost heavily. During the five days of the strike there was a loss of $1,000,000 in factory output and of $3,750,000 in wages for workmen.

But the money items are not the greatest or the most vital losses. Organized labor in Seattle showed that in a moment of thoughtlessness and incantation it could be betrayed by a small minority element of I. W. W. radicals and agents of the Bolshevik regime Germany set up in Russia, elements that have joined labor unions for the sole purpose of undermining the strength of the unions. The intelligent, respected majority of the unions are now sad at this exposure and already are talking about cleaning house.

Hundreds of employers of industrial plants, against which the workers had no complaint whatever, have been given an excuse for assuming an attitude of distrust toward their employees. Yet probably 90 per cent of the employees were absolutely free of any wish to give such an impression. They merely moved with an organization that was manipulated briefly by alien elements who joined the ranks of organized labor for the specific purpose of betraying it and destroying the machinery of cooperation in the economic life of the country.

The story of Seattle will be repeated in any and every community where alien revolutionaries, or any other influence, perpetrates strikes without cause or reason and for the sole purpose of destroying and preventing industrial peace and prosperity, for the vicious motive of conflict and disorder.

Frequent mention is made of the prompt, direct and efficacious acts of Mayor Hansen of Seattle. But he was only a representative of the type of men that will be called into action everywhere by such a menace as the revolutionary maneuver at Seattle.

There are certain interests that would like to see organized labor exhaust its last iota of strength by such futile acts as prevailed for five days in the north. These interests will be defeated by intelligent, thoughtful, patriotic labor leaders and such honest officials as Mayor Hansen.

There are in this community agitators of the same ilk as started the strike in Seattle. They are aiming ruthlessly to violate all the rules of common sense as well as the laws of the labor unions. They are the enemies of the workingman, not his friends. They do not want to win an issue between the employers and employees; they want strikes, idleness and distress.

The same evil, insane power that is responsible for the singing of "red flag" songs in the United States engineered a general strike in England and Scotland, against the judgment and orders of the labor union officials. The effort was short-lived there.

It is more important than ever before in the history of organized labor that labor know exactly what it is doing. Labor has gained advantages and solidarity during the last three or four years that should not be held cheaply. There is a general sentiment that the laborer should get for his efforts the wherewithal for a decent living, wages which shall be a share of the profits of industry commensurate with his contribution of efforts. The right to organize and the right to strike are generally recognized. They are rights useful to labor when wisely employed. They are harmful to labor when used wantonly and foolishly.

The moral and intellectual heart of America is not yet sufficiently weak to quit beating at the threat of Bolshevik plots hatched abroad. Such plots will be subdued and punished. Labor and its leaders therefore should take care that it does not become involved with alien enemies. When it decides to strike it should be sure its cause is right; then it will win. It cannot win a cause that is wrong in motives and manifestation. In one case the public will be with it; in the other the public will be against it.

The lesson of Seattle is that public opinion cannot be disregarded; and that public opinion on the question of morals and justice is the opinion of 90 per cent of union labor workers.

JAPAN'S DIPLOMACY UNCHANGED.

Information of grave importance comes from Paris, Peking, Tokyo and Washington. It is to the effect that the Japanese government is endeavoring to coerce the Chinese delegates to the peace conference against presenting the cause of their country before the peace tribunal. Japan has exerted pressure on the authorities at Peking in an effort to have instructions issued to the Chinese commissioners to refrain from expressing China's aspirations regarding the former German leased territory of Kiaochow in the province of Shantung. She has warned China, with a severity that amounts almost to a threat of war, not to divulge the secret treaties Japan exacted, one of which provides that Japan be made the successor of Germany in Shantung.

The situation may possibly be less serious than indicated. It is unlikely that Japan will go to war with China in an attempt to make permanent her occupation of territory which she has promised to vacate. But the events of the last few days show that Japan has not yet abandoned, nor has any intention of abandoning, her tactics of bullying China. The attempt to intimidate the Chinese government to modify its instructions to the Chinese peace delegates before they presented their claims to the Paris conference was characteristically rough and "raw." It was so like the methods of Germany that it was unlike the methods of any other government.

Japan has found that these bullying tactics succeed with China. Being on the frontier of China with a large army, she can use blunt and threatening methods. The assurances of the American minister at Peking or any other foreign diplomat is meaningless to the Chinese, as the latter have found out. Japan has the means and enjoys the proximity to enforce her viewpoints, and so far the United States and other nations have not seen fit to go to the length of using armed force to maintain a contrary viewpoint. Consequently it must be a sort of grim joke at Peking that a "reassuring message will soon be received from Washington."

The Stockton Record discourses on the future of signs. "What do you mean—"epidemic of hiccoughs?" Isn't the country going dry as fast as it can? All signs seem to fail in a dry year."

The Santa Rosa Republican explains it: "Labor can't come down because prices are so high, and prices can't come down because labor costs so much."

No let-up to the San Diego-Los Angeles amenities, as per this from the San Diego Union: "Dr. Frederick Strong of Los Angeles declares that speech with the dead may soon become as commonplace as wireless to Europe. Well, there are plenty of dead ones to converse with up in that man's town."

Fresno Mirror on chess: "They have started making Swiss cheese in Humboldt county. It has been made in the East for many years, but the trouble with the domestic article is that the holes are not so large as those in the imported article and it doesn't taste like Swiss cheese. We are not particular about the holes, but we insist on the taste."

This agitation on the part of China and the concern felt in this country over the attitude of Japan is not unexpected. It was practically certain that Japan would make an effort to retain the advantages she seized in China during the war.

Whatever the peace conference decides in the matter must be assumed to be approximately the correct thing. But the important matter to dispose of now is to see that China is not bulldozed into standing mute when the time comes to present her case. Any settlement of the Far Eastern questions which acknowledges the interests of one nation only will be the cause of future trouble. Much has been heard of a "just settlement," and against secret treaties. If there is any government that does not intend to be just and honest now is the time to know it.

When the Federal government adopts as a regular plan the deportation of undesirables by the train load, as in an instance recently reported, the conditions will be improved so that the orderly person will be able to enjoy life with more certainty.

Nat Goodwin's estate was but $6000. He made several fortunes, but few men can go the alimony route so often and retain their financial status. Indeed, many have been despoiled by going it once.

The definite defeat by this Congress of the woman suffrage measure—submitting a constitutional amendment to the States for ratification—has resulted. Eighteen Democrats and eleven Republicans voted against it. The Republicans are all from the East except Borah, and the Democrats are nearly all from the South.

In the Seattle instance the country is taking account of the great asset a city possesses in a mayor with a backbone.

Holland's fear of annexation is not understood. The war is practically over, and isn't she the residential custodian of the cause of it all? To that extent she has things in her own hands.

We hadn't thought of it before, but it is a fact that Turkey is the first country to put prohibition into effect. Those who claim that bonydry is a general panacea will not have a big argument in Turkey's behalf. But they may make a point if they can show that it would have been worse if home-dryness had not been decreed there.

General building was not instantly resumed with the cessation of the war as was largely predicted. But building projects have been backing up to the extent that when the revival does come it is likely to be the liveliest time in that line of activity the country has ever seen.

A despatch to the effect that Hollweg is ready to face an international court for war blame. It reads something as though he was willing to become the goat. Which will not be satisfactory. It is well enough to give Hollweg his, but the others whom made records in the awful business must be hauled up and personally made to take their medicine. No vicarious atonement will meet their crimes.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

The Santa Cruz Daily Sun has suspended, and will hereafter appear as a weekly. It was the oldest daily paper of Santa Cruz, having been established thirty-six years ago.

The Chico Enterprise drops a hint: "While Charles C. Moore may have no desire to serve in a political way, recent events have contributed greatly to his availability."

The Stockton Record discourses on the future of signs. "What do you mean—"epidemic of hiccoughs?" Isn't the country going dry as fast as it can? All signs seem to fail in a dry year."

Assistant State's Attorney Daniel Ramsay insisted there might be single men on the jury. The judge glanced knowingly at the jurors. The youngest looked bewildered. So Judge Guerin ordered a description of the weapon supplied. The youngest juror appeared relieved when he heard what it was.

"Sure, I know," one spectator whispered to another. "A curling iron is one of those hot things that burn your fingers when you are fumbling around among the things on your wife's dressing table."

"It looks like a pair of scissors with wooden handles," said the other.

"And it's deadly, too," a woman whizzed. "Mazie got hers too hot the other night and the way it killed a lot of her hair was a caution."

"Fortunately," another woman announced, "the curling iron hath no serpent; the peroxide cannot cure."

Editorial in the Sacramento Bee: "They have started making Swiss cheese in Humboldt county. We are not particular about the holes, but we insist on the taste."

The Santa Rosa Republican sees one refinement in the approaching dry spell: "With the enforcement of the prohibition law and the increase of clandestine manufacture and consumption of red liquor, it is expected that the ladies will insist upon calling it boot-blazing, instead of boot-legging."

The estimated production of raisins in 1912 was 167,000 tons. Of this amount 123,000 tons were produced in Fresno county. The normal production of raisins in the state is between 170,000 and 180,000. The decrease this year was accounted for by rains during the drying season, which damaged the crop.—Sacramento Union.

PAUPER FREE TRIAL RIGHTS AGAIN UPHELD

IN THE WAKE OF THE WOLF

By Captain Neger, German Navy.

Being the story of a German sea-raider's fifteen-month career of piracy, pillage and destruction as detailed in its commander's diary and log. Brought to America and translated by Captain Robt. D. Trudgett, Alameda.

CHAPTER 6. Wolf's Guns Deal Death.

Presiding Judge W. H. Waste of the appellate court, division 1, has handed down a decision in the case of Andrew Martins against Dr. Erno A. Majors for $25,000 damage for the death of the plaintiff's child, in which it is held that a pauper plaintiff may have his day in court, or days, for that matter, without the payment of the jury or other fees. The decision is in line with the one formerly returned by the supreme court in the same action, and grants the plaintiff the right to have his case tried and carried to the higher courts the same as if the fees were paid.

The matter was on trial in Judge T. W. Harris' department some weeks ago and after two days' hearings the plaintiff's attorneys asked leave to amend their pleadings and reframe the issue. The motion was granted and the hearing discontinued. The matter was reset for trial, and the defendant asked the appellate court for a writ of prohibition against the trial being resumed, based on the statute which provides that before a cause can be retried all fees must be paid.

RETRAIL DIRECTED.

The decision, written by Justice Waste, also concurred in by Justices Richardson and Körigian, denies Dr. Majors' petition and directs the retrial to proceed.

The issue involved in this case has occasioned a great amount of discussion among the legal fraternity. There was no California law on the subject when the question was first raised, except the statutory provisions which make it mandatory that all court fees must be paid in any case sought to be tried. Judge Harris in the first instance passed the question up to the higher courts for interpretation of the law, and the supreme court handed down a long decision based upon the common law of England, wherein a poor plaintiff who had no means to pay the fees still had the right to be heard. The decision nullified the statutory provisions and wrote new law for the state.

NEW PHASE INVOLVED.

The only new phase of the matter involved in the present petition in the appellate court was as to whether, after a hearing has been had, it can again come up on a motion for a new trial or otherwise without the payment of fees. The new decision so holds.

The decisions are of great interest to jurors, who are apparently called upon to serve without pay, regardless of how long the trial continues. As to whether the law contemplates that jurors shall sit without pay, or be paid by the county the same as the judge, bailiffs, clerks and others connected with the court, there has been no interpretation. It is anticipated that this phase of the issue will be threshed out in a suit instituted by jurors against the county for their fees.

CHECK FORGERY CHARGED.

Henry C. Whittall, employed at the Oakland Traction Company, was arrested last night by Police Inspector Alfred Gough and Foster Thompson, charged with forging the name of Alfred Gough, also employed at the car barns, to a check for $26.65. Gough alleges that Whittall stole the check forged his name to it and cashed it.

"Forward to new deeds!"

CHAPTER 7. Other Captives.

Soon after sinking the Jumna we caught a wireless which ordered all ships to keep outside the 200-meter line offshore at the port of Aden. The mines of the IJis very apparently were at work and certain ships apparently had struck them.

Less agreeable was another wireless which we picked up soon afterward. This included a most exact description of us. We had our funnel, length, width, masts and the color of our paint, not omitting a description as well of our wolfen. Of all this there could be seen across the deck of the sea-raider. Captain Neger of the cruiser made constant use of the Wolfen for reconnoitering service.

The more coal we had the longer would we be able to remain out and the more damage could we do to the enemy's shipping.

In two days the coal had been removed from the Jumna. Then the crew were taken aboard the Wolf as prisoners and the Jumna sunk by bombs. The crew was composed mostly of very old British steamers, among them men over 70 years of age; an evidence that the British were getting short of sailors for their merchant marine. The rest were a mixture of all races and colors.

GREAT EVENTS DUE IN ORIENT, SAYS HOCKING

TRIBUNE BUREAU

2011 SHATTUCK AVE.

BERKELEY, Feb. 12.—That the "sun of history" after illuminating the western hemisphere for the last few years is getting around to the east again and will show the orient in a series of world-shaking events was the declaration last night of Professor William Ernest Hocking, Harvard philosopher and lecturer, under the Mills Foundation at the University of California, in the course of a lecture on "The Philosophy of History" at the First Congregational church.

Speaking as lecturer under the E. T. Earl foundation of the Pacific School of Religion, he predicted a good deal for his distinguished audience, who to Berkeley each year. Professor Hocking addressed a large audience last night at his initial talk.

EARLY WAKES UP.

"Here the ancient historian and philosopher said that the sun of history rises in the east and moves westward," said Professor Hocking. "There is some reason to believe today that the sun is rising in the west, that the orient and that the orient is taking its place in history. China and Japan following in the trend of world events have begun to wake up and history of a constructive kind is now being written."

Speaking on the subject of "Historical Fact and Historical Judgment," Professor Hocking declared that history was largely an "artificial" product, based on it, however, he said. "Everybody is interested in history, either in an optimistic or pessimistic way. When we come to think of things at a time like this, we must be very careful about our judgment about the possibilities of any general judgment in the trend of things."

PREDICTS GREAT THINGS.

Professor Hocking supplemented his talk with many predictions taken by the orient to assume its place in world affairs and predicted great things for the far east in the immediate future.

The second of Professor Hocking's lectures in the series will be given at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the First Congregational church on the subject "The Substance of Which History is Made."

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are constantly being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fatter, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are probably thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves, but are not necessarily thinness which is confined in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate, which is inexpensive and as sold by The Owl Drug Company in Oakland and most all drugstores under a guarantee of safety and effectiveness.

By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a remarkable improvement in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health, more robustness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappears; until eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION.—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, it is not a panacea. In fact, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—Advertisement.

PRIZES IT ABOVE ALL THE OTHERS

Mrs. Scott Says All Medicines Failed to Help Her Until She Took Tanlac.

"I prize Tanlac above all other medicines," said Mrs. Anna Scott, who resides at 601 42nd street, Oakland, in an interview recently. "This has been my best medicine, though I have had many others. There were fearful pains right after my liver had been troubled with me, and my stomach became all upset so that I couldn't eat anything without suffering from indigestion. My food would stuck in my throat, and I had a sick headache every few days and had fallen off twenty pounds or more in weight.

I was taking medicine constantly and was given treatment for over a year, but never did commence to get better until I began taking Tanlac. I had not finished my first bottle of this medicine until I noticed that my condition was much improved. My stomach wasn't troubling me like it had been and I soon got so I could eat just anything I wanted without the least bit of trouble. This has been my best medicine since Tanlac has relieved me of my troubles. Since Tanlac has relieved me of my dreadful suffering and given me a good appetite, am picking up in weight and strength right along. I am now in the best of health, and since my troubles started, and I am only too glad to recommend Tanlac to anyone troubled like I was."

JENKS SAYS
JAPAN STICKS
TO 1915 POLICYLINCOLN DAY
IS OBSERVED IN THIS CITY

The 110th anniversary of Lincoln's birthday was given appropriate official and private notices in this city today, though no general exercises marked the passage of the anniversary. In most of the schools exercises of a patriotic character were held at the request of the board of education. City and county offices closed for the day and banks were closed as well.

Practically none of the retail establishments interrupted business for the day.

Lincoln's desire for these islands, to which she has nothing to gain and nothing to lose territorially and economically, can be expected to force the issue at the peace conference if she finds her anticipated domination of China threatened. Dr. Jeremiah Jenks, noted authority on China, told the United Press today:

"Referring to the pressure that was brought to bear on China both indirectly through financial sources and directly by threats of war in 1915, in order to secure Japan's aims, it does not seem unlikely that Japan will use similar methods now," he said.

"Japan denied that she has everything to gain and nothing to lose, but she has right, you have a confirmation of our 'brown brother' land just."

Italy desires control of the Adriatic and its seaports to which the Jugo-Slavs have so far submitted another stumbling block. France which has made the tremendous amount of money during the war, inserts another obstacle to Italian domination by insisting on her own overwhelming mercenary demands, relating mainly to impossible indemnities and which are in absolute conflict with the American-British program.

"Unless these allies—and I mean particularly Italy, France and Japan—reconcile their positions, there never can be any complete harmony."

Paul Eder presided, the guest in cluding Herbert Blischke, John A. Britton, Justice W. W. Morrow, Mayor James L. Hobbs, Jess W. Lillenthal and Joseph R. Knowland.

Marcoson will speak on "The War and After" Friday night at the Hotel Oakland.

Instead, she has deliberately pursued that policy forward during the last year as vigorously as ever he said. People will wonder if she is not following her former methods. It takes more words to change a reputation.

The acts of the peace conference will be a settlement of all disputed questions since the outbreak of the war. If Japan loses in Paris, she cannot be expected to make any gains. Consequently, if Japan's would be turning against her she is likely to adopt strong measures if there is hope for success.

"On the other hand," Dr. Jenks concluded, "the only sensible, as well as just policy, is for the other nations to insist upon the disputes between Japan and China being settled openly after the disclosure of secret treaties of all kinds of juntas to all concerned." We shall also bear in mind that China is chiefly concerned and her wishes should be given greatest consideration."

The National Union of Railway Men, representing 400,000, discussed the general labor conditions.

The Transport Workers Federation, seeking for $30,000, will receive the employers' answer to their demands for higher wages and a forty-four-hour week.

Striking shipyard workers in the Clyde district, while ordered back to work today, have been instructed by their committee to prepare for “national action.” Premier Lloyd George's speech before the House of Commons yesterday, in which he uttered a defy to Prussia, and the ranks of labor, was expected to form one of the principal subjects of debate in the various industrial meetings today.

“Labor's fair demands will be examined carefully,” he said; “but in case a demand is pressed for the purpose of holding up a community and destroying the government by brute force, I say, on behalf of the government that we will fight Prussianism in the Industrial world exactly as we fought it on the continent of Europe, with the whole might of the nation.”

Adams paid glowing tribute to the American Red Cross girls. He said:

“The Red Cross girls were perfect mothers to us and their noble work will live in memory forever.”

America Has Great Chance in Russia Merchant Tells of Trade Possibilities

TRIBUNE BUREAU
34 EAST SANTA CLARA

SAN JOSE, Feb. 12.—Russia will never forget any assistance rendered her in her hour of need, said Julius Fox, a Moscow merchant, in an address before the Hundred Per Cent Club of this city, during which he outlined the trade opportunities of the United States.

Referring to foreign trade conditions before the war, Fox said:

"With the exception of a few concerns, the International Harvester Company, the steel companies and the Standard Oil Company, few American companies sought foreign markets for their products. Germany was the manufacturer, England the importer, and France the middleman, leader. But during the war the United States has been leading them all in trade, in finance and now in shipping. These are the three main factors in foreign trade; having these on hand, I cannot see why the United States should not keep the lead in the future."

COMPETITION IN TRADE.

"We will have to admit that England, France, Japan, as well as the beaten enemy will do its utmost as competitors on an economic battlefield. It will be absolutely impossible to shut Germany out of the world market. Russia, however, is a new member, both for mining and agriculture. America must supply a large part of it."

Concluding, Fox said: "Russia will soon emerge as a great purposeful, brotherly nation. She will never be a menace to liberty, but on the contrary, will assist all mankind against intrigues and evil. It is our privilege and opportunity to help Russia; she will never forget any assistance rendered her in her hour of need. Russia needs everything from a needle to a locomotive and America can deliver it. Russia has plenty of raw materials which America can use. It will be a natural exchange with profits on both sides. But Russia will emerge triumphant from her present turmoil, the men in power are men of brains and vision and our country will win in the economic field as we have done on the battlefield."

The possibilities for American trade with Russia are enormous. The area of Russia is 14,700,000 square miles, that of the United States, including Alaska, 5,800,000. Russia is rich in mines, forests and soil.

The most notable of the men coming to New York yesterday was General J. F. Madden of San Francisco, who was one of the leaders on the string line. He told in detail of American work which the quartermaster's department handled the problems of moving an army overseas and back. His division of the regular army. More than 11,000 troops in all have landed in New York in the past 45 hours, according to wire despatches, these including passengers from three ships.

The local men who returned with the latest units are all men who entered France early. Captain Humann left Oakland as a first Lieutenant, from the second officer's training camp, and became division adjutant in France. He was awarded a Distinguished Service medal a few months after being in France. Humann was formerly associated with a local beauty firm and before that was on The TRAILER staff. His home is at 2334 Hilliard avenue, Berkeley. Lieutenant Leon March lives at 2348 Grant street, Berkeley. He also was commissioned in one of the early training camps and went early to France. Captain Fred Smith of 1121 Park avenue, Alameda, went over as a lieutenant, winning his promotion on the other side, and Lieutenant Harold Ashley of 2212 Twelfth avenue is also a training camp officer.

Such service will be rendered by light mounted and foot carriers. "Never before," according to Rosborough, "has there been such a regular service as that which we are arranging. As a result of this step we have been able to dispense with the services of one freight car that district and thus save $1100 a year."

Five collections from every mail box in Oakland is to be made hereafter and other plans having for their object improved services are being outlined.

4 nights only

SAYS EAST SIDE AIDED RUSS REDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Bolshevism in Russia probably would have failed had it not received strong backing in New York's East Side. Dr. G. A. Simons, former Russian emissary, told the Senate propaganda committee.

Simons returned last October from Russia, where he served in Petrograd for several years as a clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Simons said large numbers of former residents of the East Side were now in Petrograd actively engaged in the Bolshevik movement. Raymond Robins, the American Red Cross, was favored by at least one Bolshevik leader as ambassador to Russia, Simons testified.

Sergius Zoran, commissariat of Russia's wire system, regarded Simons as one of the greatest Americans and truly representative of the people, while Ambassador Francis was considered as a representative of the capitalists. Simons explained Simons praised the work of Francis and his staff.

2 Delegates Named for Nations' Meeting

SAN JOSE, Feb. 12.—W. S. Clayton, president of the First National Bank, and Frank McLean of the Y. M. C. A., have been named by Governor Stephens as local delegates to attend the Pacific Coast Congress to promote the cause of the League of Nations, which he held in San Francisco February 10.

It is expected that former President William Howard Taft will be present as a speaker.

IN STUDENTS.

In recounting the record of his presidency during the past 20 years, President Wheeler referred to the great increase in students as the prime evidence of the success and growth of the state institution. But 1700 students were enrolled on the campus when Dr. Wheeler took charge. Today the registration is slightly more than 2000.

That his advanced age and the constant strain on his mental and physical strength was the only reason for his retirement at the present time, was the opinion of most of the students. "With all we were told on Jan. 13, an age which permits me to retire under the Carnegie pension plan," he said today. "Personally, I will have finished 20 years of work, and I am now in my 70th year, an interesting co-existent of dates. The only tests I have had at all that time have been able to enjoy on trains traveling in the interests of the university."

Scores of university students and members of the faculty kept President Wheeler busy this morning receiving expressions of regret at his coming departure from the university. Messages have been reaching the professor from all parts of the state since the announcement of his retirement expressing appreciation of his work and regret or loss to the state university.

MESSAGE TO STUDENTS.

To the students at the University of California, whom he has guided in the paths of knowledge for the past 20 years, President Benjamin Ide Wheeler today addressed a farewell, pleading at the same time that he be still "taken to the heart."

In his message to the students on the campus, telling them of his intention to leave from the presidency of the state university, President Wheeler says:

"The State of California, University of California. My dear Children, I cannot for a moment think that what I have done today severs me one whit from your society or from sympathy with your interests, nor thought so. I should be deeply distressed if I did. I look forward to being shortly relieved of heavy and diverse burdens, which have often intervened to keep me from seeing you all, knowing you and your welfare. I otherwise feel that I am not going away from the university, on the contrary I am coming nearer, so I hope, to its real life and being. I have always felt that the most vital thing about any university is the life-blood of its students. And after over 20 years of entanglement in material interests, I find the way opening determining for a return to you and to that noble university, where my studies which makes you students, and where health is continued to me, shall restore me again to the estate of student with you and among you. Open your hearts and take me to you, for you have given me ever the assurance of my abiding love."

"And it shall be 'all for the sake or California.' BENJ. IDE WHEELER.
February 11, 1919."
